On Monday, March 17, at 8:30 a.m., the Sioux County Sheriff's Office investigated a one vehicle accident, which occurred near the intersection of 310th Street and county road L-14, just north of Boyden, IA.

Shelly A. Boone age 54 of George, IA was southbound on L-14 driving a 1997 Dodge Intrepid; the roadway was slush-covered at the time of the accident. The slush apparently pulled Boone's vehicle into the northbound lane, off the shoulder of the road, where she struck a culvert marker and then rolled as her vehicle entered the east ditch.

Boone was taken by the Boyden ambulance to the Sheldon, IA. Hospital; she was treated and released for minor injuries.

The vehicle sustained major damage. Boone was wearing her seat belt at the time of the accident.
